

SECTION THREE

CAP YOUTH PEACEBUILDING PROJECTS

There are many approaches in peacebuilding. Some groups favour direct actions and public advocacy work; others concentrate on education and skill training. In our experience, what you do does not matter nearly as much as why you are doing it. Once you know why something is important, the approach you use will follow. We are also convinced that small projects can have a big impact.

This section contains descriptions of CAP's work, often combined with discussions on strategies. It is divided into four categories:

- 1. Advocacy and Public Awareness
- 2. Community Level Organizing
- 3. Reconciliation
- 4. Human Rights Training
